Water shortage could cut exports: Minister

REUTERS
New Delhi, June 24

A WATER SHORTAGE could cut food exports from India, which has emerged as a leading supplier of a number of food products to the world, the water resources minister warned on Monday.

From being a food-deficit country, India has achieved the distinction of being a top exporter of food but to retain that edge it needs to revive its reservoirs, lakes and other traditional water bodies, Gajendra Singh Shekhawat said in a statement.

"Judicious use of water can save India from future calamities," Shekhawat said. India, a leading producer of an array of food commodities, is sitting on large stockpiles of rice, wheat and sugar.

It emerged as the world's biggest rice exporter in 2012, selling nearly 12 million tonne of the staple annually on the world market, including 4 million tonne of the aromatic basmati variety, exclusively grown in India and Pakistan.

But rice is a water-intensive crop. Government research bodies and experts say Indian farmers need 4,500 to 5,000 litres of water to grow one kg of rice.

Water is typically scarce in the summer months, but the situation has been particularly grim this year in western and southern states that received below average rainfall in the 2018 monsoon season.

This year, the monsoon has delivered 38% lower than normal, or average, rainfall since the start of the season on June 1, according to data compiled by the state-run India Meteorological Department.

After a weak start, monsoon rains, that water half of the country's farmlands lacking irrigation, have covered nearly half of the country and conditions are favourable for further advances into the central and western parts this week, a weather department official told Reuters on Monday.

India's water demand is projected to be double its supply by 2030, the NITI Aayog said in a report last year.

Import of plastic waste banned from August this year: Javadekar

PRESS TRUST OF INDIA
New Delhi, June 24

THE GOVERNMENT HAS banned import of plastic waste from August 2019, environment minister Prakash Javadekar said in Rajya Sabha Monday while listing out steps taken to curb pollution.

Replying to a query during Question Hour, the minister informed that about 20,000 tonne of plastic wastes get generated every day in the country and out of that only 13,000-14,000 tonne are collected.

"We have taken a decision to ban imports of plastic waste from August 2019," Javadekar said.

The minister highlighted various steps taken by the government to protect environment and control air pollution.

Through school nursery, he said, children are taught to grow trees.

After the successful pilot projects, the government is taking up this on a large scale.

That apart, he said the gov-
